OFFICIAL

Dear [REDACTED],

Apologies for the delay in responding. The Coroner Liaison Officer in our Consular Directorate had passed a response to the Parliamentary Correspondence Team (PCT), who monitor this mailbox, on the 2nd June. Unfortunately, the case manager in PCT had by that point left the FCDO, so the response was never passed on.

Their response was as follows:

[BEGINS]

I don't believe a response sits within my remit and seems more for the Health Department [DHSC].

It's about people travelling to the UK for medical procedures in a worse condition than anticipated. This would be for [DHSC] to liaise with the Health Team in the country who has sent the referral to determine if they are well enough to travel.
